In this Part:

court means:

- (a) the Supreme Court, or
- (b) the Court of Criminal Appeal, or
- (c) the District Court, or
- (d) a Local Court, or
- (e) any other court which, or person who, exercises criminal jurisdiction.

criminal proceedings means:

- (a) proceedings relating to the trial or sentencing of a person for an offence (whether or not a sexual assault offence), other than preliminary criminal proceedings, or
- (b) proceedings relating to an order under Part 15A (Apprehended violence) of the Crimes Act 1900.

harm includes actual physical bodily harm, financial loss, stress or shock, damage to reputation or emotional or psychological harm (such as shame, humiliation and fear).

preliminary criminal proceedings means any of the following:

- (a) committal proceedings,
- (b) proceedings relating to bail (including proceedings during the trial or sentencing of a person), whether or not in relation to a sexual assault offence.

principal protected confider means the victim or alleged victim of a sexual assault offence by, to or about whom a protected confidence is made.

protected confidence—see section 58.

protected confider, in relation to a protected confidence, means:

- (a) the principal protected confider, or
- (b) any other person who made the protected confidence.

sexual assault offence means:

- (a) an offence referred to in section 578 of the Crimes Act 1900, or
- (b) any other offence prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this definition.

(2) Document recording a protected confidence

In this Part, a reference to a document recording a protected confidence:

- (a) is a reference to any part of the document that records a protected confidence or any report, observation, opinion, advice, recommendation or other matter that relates to the protected confidence made by a protected confider, and
- (b) includes a reference to any copy, reproduction or duplicate of that part of the document.

(3) Electronic documents

For the purposes of this Part, if a document recording a protected confidence is stored electronically and a written document recording the protected confidence could be created by use of equipment that is usually available for retrieving or collating such stored information, the document stored electronically is to be dealt with as if it were a written document so created.

58 What is a protected confidence?

- (1) In this Part:

protected confidence means a counselling communication that is made by, to or about a victim or alleged victim of a sexual assault offence.

- (2) A counselling communication is a protected confidence for the purposes of this Part even if it:
- (a) was made before the acts constituting the relevant sexual assault offence occurred or are alleged to have occurred, or
 - (b) was not made in connection with a sexual assault offence or alleged sexual assault offence or any condition arising from a sexual assault offence or alleged sexual assault offence.

- (3) For the purposes of this section, a communication may be made in confidence even if it is made in the presence of a third party if the third party is present to facilitate communication or to otherwise further the counselling process.

- (4) In this section:

counselling communication means a communication:

- (a) made in confidence by a person (the counselled person) to another person (the counsellor) in the course of a relationship in which the counsellor is counselling, giving therapy to or treating the counselled person for any emotional or psychological condition, or
- (b) made in confidence to or about the counselled person by the counsellor in the course of that relationship, or
- (c) made in confidence about the counselled person by a counsellor or a parent, carer or other supportive person who is present to facilitate communication between the counselled person and the counsellor or to otherwise further the counselling process, or
- (d) made in confidence by or to the counsellor by another counsellor or by a person who is or has counselled or otherwise treated the counselled person for any emotional or psychological condition of the person.

59 Evidence of sexual assault communications not to be required to be produced, or adduced in or in connection with, preliminary criminal proceedings

- (1) A person cannot be required (whether by subpoena or any other procedure) to produce a document recording a protected confidence in, or in connection with, any preliminary criminal proceedings.
- (2) Evidence is not to be adduced in any preliminary criminal proceedings if it would disclose:
 - (a) a protected confidence, or
 - (b) the contents of a document recording a protected confidence.

60 Evidence of sexual assault communications may be required to be produced in, or in connection with, criminal proceedings, or adduced, with leave

- (1) A person who objects to production of a document recording a protected confidence on the ground that it is privileged under this Part cannot be required (whether by subpoena or any other procedure) to produce the document for inspection by a party in, or in connection with, any criminal proceedings unless:
 - (a) the document is first produced for inspection by the court for the purposes of ruling on the objection, and
 - (b) the court is satisfied (whether on inspection of the document or at some later stage in the proceedings) that:
 - (i) the contents of the document will, either by themselves or having regard to other evidence adduced or to be adduced by the party seeking production of the document, have substantial probative value, and
 - (ii) other evidence of the protected confidence or the contents of the document is not available, and
 - (iii) the public interest in preserving the confidentiality of protected confidences and protecting the principal protected confider from harm is substantially outweighed by the public interest in allowing inspection of the document.

- (2) Without limiting the matters that the court may take into account for the purposes of subsection (1) (b) (iii), the court must take into account the likelihood, and the nature or extent, of harm that would be caused to the principal protected confider if the document is produced for inspection.
- (3) Evidence is not to be adduced in any criminal proceedings if it would disclose:
- (a) a protected confidence, or
 - (b) the contents of a document recording a protected confidence,
- unless the court gives leave to adduce the evidence.
- (4) The court must not give leave to adduce evidence that discloses a protected confidence or the contents of a document recording a protected confidence unless the court is satisfied that:
- (a) the evidence will, either by itself or having regard to other evidence adduced or to be adduced by the party seeking to adduce the evidence, have substantial probative value, and
 - (b) other evidence of the protected confidence or the contents of the document recording the protected confidence is not available, and
 - (c) the public interest in preserving the confidentiality of protected confidences and protecting the principal protected confider from harm is substantially outweighed by the public interest in admitting into evidence information or the contents of a document of substantial probative value.
- (5) Without limiting the matters that the court may take into account for the purposes of subsection (4) (c), the court must take into account the likelihood, and the nature or extent, of harm that would be caused to the principal protected confider if the evidence that discloses the protected confidence or the contents of the document recording the protected confidence is adduced.
- (6) The court must state its reasons for requiring production or giving or refusing to give leave under this section.

- (7) A protected confider who is not a party to proceedings may, with the leave of the court, appear in the proceedings.
- (8) If there is a jury, the court is to hear and determine any objection or application referred to in subsection (1) or (3) in the absence of the jury.

61 Notice required before evidence is produced for inspection or adduced

- (1) A document recording a protected confidence is not to be required to be produced for inspection by a party in, or in connection with, any criminal proceedings unless the party seeking production of the document has given reasonable notice in writing that production has been sought to:
 - (a) each other party, and
 - (b) if the protected confider is not a party—the protected confider.
- (2) Evidence disclosing a protected confidence or the contents of a document recording a protected confidence is not to be adduced in any criminal proceedings unless the party adducing the evidence has given reasonable notice in writing of the party's intention to adduce the evidence to:
 - (a) each other party, and
 - (b) if the protected confider is not a party—the protected confider.
- (3) Notice given under this section to a protected confider who is not a party must:
 - (a) advise the protected confider that he or she may, with the leave of the court, appear in the proceedings concerned, and
 - (b) in the case of notice given under subsection (1) (b)—advise the protected confider of the day on which the document is (by the subpoena or other procedure concerned) to be produced, and
 - (c) in the case of notice given under subsection (2) (b)—advise the protected confider of the day (if known) when the proceedings are to be heard.

- (4) It is sufficient compliance with a requirement under subsection (1) (b) or (2) (b) to give notice to a protected confider who is not a party and who is the principal protected confider if the party gives reasonable notice that the party has sought production, or of the party's intention to adduce the evidence, to the informant and the informant gives, or uses the informant's best endeavours to give, a copy of the notice to the principal protected confider within a reasonable time after the informant receives the notice.
 - (5) Despite subsections (1) and (2), a document recording a protected confidence may, with the leave of the court, be required to be produced for inspection, or evidence disclosing a protected confidence or the contents of a document recording a protected confidence adduced, although notice has not been given to a protected confider who is not a party (not being the principal protected confider) as required by those subsections.
 - (6) In this section:
informant, in relation to criminal proceedings with respect to an offence, means the police officer who preferred the charge or laid the information for the offence.

62 Effect of consent

- (1) This Part does not prevent the production of any document recording a protected confidence or the adducing of evidence disclosing a protected confidence or the contents of a document recording a protected confidence, in, or in connection with, any proceedings, if the principal protected confider to whom the proceedings relate has consented to the production of the document or adducing of the evidence.
- (2) Consent is not effective for the purposes of this section unless:
 - (a) the consent is given in writing, and
 - (b) the consent expressly relates to the production of a document or adducing of evidence that is privileged under this Part or would be so privileged except for a limitation or restriction imposed by this Part.

63 Loss of sexual assault communications privilege: misconduct

- (1) This Part does not prevent the adducing of evidence of a communication made, or the production or adducing of a document prepared, in the furtherance of the commission of a fraud or an offence or the commission of an act that renders a person liable to a civil penalty.
- (2) For the purposes of this section, if the commission of the fraud, offence or act is a fact in issue and there are reasonable grounds for finding that:
 - (a) the fraud, offence or act was committed, and
 - (b) a communication was made or document prepared in furtherance of the commission of the fraud, offence or act, the court may find that the communication was so made or document so prepared.

64 Ancillary orders

- (1) Without limiting any action the court may take to limit the possible harm, or extent of the harm, likely to be caused by the disclosure of evidence of, or the contents of a document recording, a protected confidence, the court may:
 - (a) order that all or part of the evidence be heard or document produced in camera, and
 - (b) make such orders relating to the production and inspection of the document as, in the opinion of the court, are necessary to protect the safety and welfare of any protected confider, and
 - (c) make such orders relating to the suppression of publication of all or part of the evidence given before the court as, in its opinion, are necessary to protect the safety and welfare of any protected confider, and
 - (d) make such orders relating to disclosure of protected identity information as, in the opinion of the court, are necessary to protect the safety and welfare of any protected confider.

(2) Nothing in this section limits the power of a court to make an order under section 577A, 578 or 578A of the Crimes Act 1900.

(3) In this section:

protected identity information means information about, or enabling a person to ascertain, the private, business or official address, email address or telephone number of a protected confider.

65 Court to inform of rights to make applications and objections

If it appears to a court that a witness or a party may have grounds for making an application or objection under a provision of this Part, the court must satisfy itself (if there is a jury, in the absence of the jury) that the witness or party is aware of the effect of that provision.

66 Court may inspect documents

If a question arises under this Part relating to a document, a court may order that the document be produced to it and may inspect the document for the purpose of determining the question.

67 Inadmissibility of evidence that must not be adduced or given

Evidence that, because of this Part, must not be adduced or given in proceedings is not admissible in the proceedings.

68 Application of Part

(1) This Part does not apply in relation to criminal proceedings the hearing of which began before the commencement of this Part. Division 1B of Part 3.10 of the Evidence Act 1995, as in force immediately before the commencement of this subsection, continues to apply in relation to such proceedings.

(2) This Part applies, subject to subsection (1), in relation to a requirement (whether by subpoena or other procedure) to produce a document on or after the commencement of this subsection even if the requirement was issued before that commencement.

- (3) This Part applies, subject to subsection (1), in respect of a protected confidence whether made before or after the commencement of this subsection.
- (4) The court may, subject to subsection (1), give leave under this Part in respect of a protected confidence whether or not the confidence is privileged under Part 3.10 of the Evidence Act 1995 or would be so privileged except for a limitation or restriction imposed by that Part.

69 Application of common law

- (1) This Part does not affect the operation of a principle or rule of the common law in relation to evidence in criminal proceedings, except so far as this Part provides otherwise expressly or by necessary intendment.
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), this Part does not affect the operation of such a principle or rule so far as it relates to the inspection of a document required to be produced in, or in connection with, criminal proceedings.
