(a) (i) where such person is not dead, whether or not such person is totally or partially disabled for work from the disease, as defined in section three of this Act, and whether or not his disablement was reasonably attributable to his exposure to the inhalation of silica dust in an occupation to the nature of which the disease was due; or

Such award shall be conclusive evidence before the committee as to the matters so found, and the matters so found (other than the finding whether or not such person was a worker during the whole of the time he was engaged in such occupation, or whether or not such person was a worker during only part of the time he was engaged in such occupation) shall be deemed to have been certified by the medical authority pursuant to subsection one of this section.

(1) The committee may, where it is satisfied that compensation is payable under this Act to any person, and pending its final determination as to the amount of such compensation, make an interim award for the payment of such amount of compensation to that person as does not exceed the least compensation to which he is, in the opinion of the committee, entitled.

(2) Upon the making of an award in favour of such person pursuant to subsection one of section eight of this Act, the interim award in his favour shall terminate and the amounts which have been paid under the interim award shall be deducted from the amount payable under the award made under that subsection.

(3) An interim award made in favour of any person may be terminated by the committee at any time before the making of an award in favour of that person pursuant to subsection one of section eight of this Act.

8C. Where the committee is satisfied that by reason of any mistake of law or of fact an award was wrongly made or any amount of compensation specified in an award was wrongly calculated, it may terminate or vary such award, and the compensation payable thereunder, accordingly.

8D. Where either before or after the commencement of the Workers’ Compensation (Silicosis) Amendment Act, 1957, any weekly payments to any person made under this Act have been ended pursuant to the committee’s powers under section sixty of the Principal Act and the committee, upon an application for resumption of such weekly payments made by such person, is satisfied that such weekly payments would, if they were in force, not be ended pursuant pursuant to such powers, the committee may resume making weekly payments to such person of such amount not exceeding the maximum provided by this Act as the committee may determine.

3. (1) All payments of compensation from the Fund made before the commencement of this Act pursuant to any award made by the committee, or purporting to have been so made before such commencement, and which but for this subsection would have been invalid, are hereby validated.

(3) Where immediately before the commencement of this Act a person was entitled to an award from the committee, or where but for this Act a person would have been so entitled, nothing in this Act shall affect such entitlement, but the award shall be subject to the provisions of the Workers' Compensation (Silicosis) Act, 1942, as amended by subsequent Acts and by this Act.

(4) In any case where the committee after the first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-five, and before the commencement of this Act made an award in respect of the death of any person and if, had this Act been in force at the date of such award, the dependants of such person would have been entitled to an award of an amount greater than that so awarded, such dependants shall be entitled to an award of such greater amount, less the amount already so awarded.
4. Where a person died before the commencement of this Act and he was immediately before his death receiving weekly payments of compensation from the Fund pursuant to an award made, or purporting to have been made, by the committee, the dependants of such person shall, if they were not entitled to an award under subsection one or (1A) of the Workers' Compensation (Silicosis) Act, 1942-1953, be entitled to an award from the committee as if the amendments made by section two of this Act had been in force at the date of such person's death, and to receive compensation at the prescribed rates from the Fund.
